THE ELEPHANT WALK is an endearing tale about an inquisitive young girl, Norah, and her quest to spot elephants. After seeing an elephant in her dream, Norah wakes up with an urge to go for a walk. However, Norah isn't interested in just any kind of walk, she wants to go for an elephant walk! With her skeptical parents in tow on a sunny afternoon, the family sets off on their elephantastic adventure. But, with so much to do and so little time, will Norah get to see an elephant in her family's suburban neighborhood?

Perhaps more than one.

The Elephant Walk is a charming bedtime tale that Spooner wrote 20 years ago for his own daughter, Norah. Esteemed Oregonian cartoonist, Joe Spooner, has written for such publications as Esquire, Willamette Week, Saturday Review, and is the creator of The Oregonian comic strip, "Mr. Portland."
